
— WANTED —

BAY NATURE PHOTOGRAPHERS

This lycaena butterfly was found in an asclepias patch in the Great Swamp, South Kingstown, RI by Christer LaBrecque

“...Most of the people using the trail [Blackstone River Bike path] didn't even notice the beauty until they saw me shooting the photos. So I believe it is part of my job to make the public more aware of their surroundings.”

—Jeffery Fraise

This photo of a great blue heron was taken by Jeffery Fraise while taking a walk along the Blackstone River Bike Path.

Kyle Smith caught this beautiful sunset at Castle Hill in Newport, RI.

THE NARRAGANSETT BAY JOURNAL INVITES YOU TO CONTRIBUTE!

Narragansett Bay Journal welcomes photographs, letters, articles, story ideas, drawings, and cartoons.

Artwork will be posted on our website gallery. We ask that folks provide a description of their work with credit to the artist with their submittals.

PHOTOGRAPHY SUBMITTALS

We love to see people using, and enjoying the Narragansett Bay and watershed. Please send your hi-resolution (300 d.p.i. or higher) photographs in JPEG or TIFF format with a brief description and photographer's name to Lesley Lambert at lesley@gso.uri.edu. If you have any questions about submittals please call (401) 874-6482.

LETTERS, ARTICLES, DRAWINGS, CARTOONS & STORY IDEAS

Send your ideas to: Thomas Ardito, Editor
Narragansett Bay Journal, NBEP
URI Bay Campus, Box 27
Narragansett, RI 02882
Tom@gso.uri.edu
